IGNORING RAIDERS

AIM AT VITAL RAILWAY LINE TOHANKOW

Nervous Populace Only Hears Distant Drone Of Passing Planes

PUKOW, NEAR NANKING, IS AGAIN BOMBARDED

Canton, Sept. 28 (9.15 a.m.).

Although the drone of planes was distinctly heard over the city this morning, and air raid alarms were sounded, the Japanese raiders disdained to drop their bombs on so easy a target and carried on further afield, apparently searching for the Canton-Hankow railway lines, which they damaged considerably yesterday.

The clouds which obscured the Japanese planes from those who watched below may also have been responsible on the Chinese positions at Hsiangyin for the preservation of Canton from another bombing, the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers by the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers. dangerously close to anti-aircraft batteries.

No news has yet been received of any attack on the railway this morning, and the "All Clear" signal was sounded at 9.05 a.m., indicating the raiders have passed well beyond Canton.—Reuter.

EARLY ALARMS

Canton, Sept. 28 (8.30 a.m.) An air-raid alarm awakened the populace about 2 o'clock this morning, but shortly after the "all-clear" signal was souned without Japanese planes visiting the city.

However, the alarm was again sounded at 7.15 a.m. and at the moment the city is awaiting development with some anxiety. -Reuter.

The "All Clear" has now sounded .- Reuter.

Pukow Attacked

Nanking, Sept. 28. A dozen Japanese planes have bombed Pukow, across the river from this city, and attacked the terminus of the railway to Tientsin, as well as Chinese warships down the river.

The Chinese Foreign Office announces that the civilian casualties resulting from last Saturday's raids on Nanking exceed the earlier estimates, and are at least 200 killed and wounded .- Reuter.

Tokyo, Sept. 28. The British Ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie, again called on the Foreign Vice-Minister in connection with the continuance of Japanese air raids at Nanking.—Reuter.

Russia's Stand Clear

Moscow, Sept. 27. It is revealed that M. Slavutsky, who protested on Sunday to Tokyo against Japanese bombing of Nanking, and warned that Japan would be held responsible for any damage to Soviet Embassy there, stated: . "It is known that the Japanese military authorities have already created for the Consulates of the U.S.S.R. at Tlentsin, Shanghal and Kalgan, impossible conditions for the normal carrying out of their functions." The Note went on to protest against the actions of the Japanese military nuthorities which are unprecedented in the history of international re-Intions.—United Press.

Washington, Sept. 27. Commenting on the reports that Japan had established her own Customs Houses in the Shanghai area, Mr. Cordeli Hull, U.S. Secretary of State, told a press conference that the United States Government was studying with the closest interest any possible development of the China situation similar to that of 1932-33 when Japan seized control of the Chinese customs depois in Manchuria. Mr. Hull sald he knew nothing about Geneva reports that the United States had agreed to participate in a London conference on the Far East situation. --Reuter.

CANTON AGAIN BOMBED

Canton, Sept. 28. (10.15 p.m.) Machine-gun fire is clearly audible to the east of the city and heavy thuds, which are apparently bombs, can be heard. Although audible, at the moment the Japanese planes are invisible. It was dull and cloudy over Canton early this morning, but the weather is quickly chearing.

Later in the evening hundreds of Japanese made an attempt to capture the Eight Character Bridge in Chapei and the Chih Tze University and Cantonese Middle School in the Klangwan sector. The Chinese used hand-grenades and machine-guns to drive back the attackers. Firing was clearly audible in the International Settlement and French concession last night .- Central News.

Food Trucks Turned Back

Shanghal, Sept. 28. Garden Bridge and the area along the Bund extending as far as Nanking Road witnessed the greatest traffic jam in the history of Shanghai yesterday as practically every available truck in the Settlement south of Soochow Creek joined in the rush to remove food supplies and cargo from the wharves and godowns in Hongkew, Wayside and Yangtsepoo areas.

Many truck drivers, however, were turned away disappointed at 5 o'clock as the two-day period allowed by the Japanese for the removal of cargo and stocks ended at that hour. It is reliably stated that less than one-third of the merchandise in the war zone was removed during the permitted period.

Struck Japanese Sentry

The crew of every truck was very carefully scrutinised by Japanese, following an incident yesterday when Chinese coolie, after a brass check had been found in his possession, slapped a Japanese sentry and jumped over the Garden Bridge into the Whangpoo, amid a hall of bullets. An expert swimmer, the Chinese vanished as a Japanese picket boat was summoned.—Reuter.

Dr. KOO MAINTAINS JAPAN AIMS AT WORLD CONQUEST

Geneva, Sept. 27.

The real intention of Japan is to subjugate and conquer China, declared Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese representative at Geneva when he addressed the Committee of Twenty-three Nations to-day which is considering the Far Eastern question with a view to seeking means of settlement of present hostilities.

This essential step, the conquest of China, is one phase in the fulfilment of Japan's so-called sacred mission to dominate Asia, the Pacific and eventually the world, Dr. Koo went on.

"It may prove to be a mere dream on her part, but nevertheless it constitutes a real menace to peace and

Coats are going to be a lot different

FIRST REPORT OF FINAL SUMMING PARIS SHOWS

OATS take first place in the news about the day clothes you will be wearing this autumn and winter.

All the Paris fashion houses are featuring them independdently as well as combined with suits in three-piece outfits.

Rumours that skirts would be shorter have proved, after an altround view, to be unfounded; luckily for most of us they are still only at most fifteen inches from the ground.

But you must make up your mind right away to get your eye into a new line. No more of these narrow tuated hip lines. Instead most of the new coats are cut plain in front, full at the back, so that they hang plumb-straight and fit the figure nowhere. o

THRST impression was that we I would have no choice but boxy coats—those square, swagger coats with deep pleats let into a shoulder yoke at the back; and they anoulder yoke at the carry off, are by no means easy to carry off, particularly if you are small-sized.

But after seeing several shows I realised that the boxy coats were just one variation of the straight line; they've got an attractive swing to them and they are certainly going But if it suits you better you

An alternative line which emerged from a general survey was the redingotes - dashing. full-skirted coats with tight-fitting bodiess and moulded waists, like the one Robb has drawn for you here.

Several of these appeared in every collection-quite enough to establish them as a fashion for people who flud the fulness of the straight coats a bit overpowering.

The best were simple with a short straight skirt and a tailored but easy-fitting jacket. High-necked blouses are draped or worn with tuck-in scarves, and mostly come outside their skirt.

Pastry-Making

DASTRY-MAKING still seems to one of the housewife's chief bo-

Even women who are the first to agree that modern labour-saving methods and scientific equipment have made a clean sweep of kitchen gloom and drudgery, feel that a "hoodoo" hangs over ples. Actually nothing is further from the truth.

The first rule in pastry-making is to keep everything cool-mixing bowl. boards, the kitchen you work in, the flour and fat and water you use, Scrub your hands in cool or cold water before you start, and see that, like everything else you use, they are absolutely dry.

The second point is that pastry, like people, needs fresh air and breathing space. Aerate your flour by shaking it through a sieve into the bowt. Work near a window if you can, and always try to leave the slab of pastry for an hour or two in a cool, airy place before actually putting it on the pie dish.

The flour should be white, smell sweet, and be light and powdery. Use a good brand and you will be safe. Follow the same rule with fat. Do not think that anything will do, and that an inferior kind of fat will miraculously produce a light creamyerisp pastry. Lately I have found that excellent results come from pastry made with good margarine, which in addition to being economical, is rich in the health-giving vitamins that make pastry a valuable part of the family meals.

Mix pastry with a knife, and use as little water as possible. The pastry should come clean out of the mixing bowl, whether it is the short, daky or rough puff kind. If it sticks, it is too wet; and if it falls apart like a landslide, instead of forming a light, clastic dough, it is too dry. The latter state can easily be remedied, the former is not so natisfactorily doctored, so be careful with the water. Adding extra flour is apt to upset the proportions of your ingredients.

Cook your pies fairly quickly and remember that with self-raising flour you should start the cooking in a rather hotter oven than with ordinary flour.

TWELVE leading South Wales coalowners, meeting in their headquarters in Park-place, Cardiff, have decided not only how much London coal merchants are going to pay for fuel this winter from the mines, but how much every householder in Greater London is to pay the merchants.

This is the first time that coalowners have decided the retail as well as the wholesale price of coal.

CHINA APPEALS FOR LEAGUE SUPPORT

non-combatants through aerial bom-Dr. Koo appealed to the Committee to study measures for this purpose without undue delay, "We particularly ask that within the limit of feasibility the utmost measures for encouragement and assistance be extended to China. "In the name of humanity as well as in the interests of justice to my country and the peace of the world, I earnestly hope this Committee will not let the main issues be lost in a labyrinth of confusion, but will act speedily as well as effectively," Dr. Koo concluded.

Lord Cranborne Urges Firm Statement

Lord Cranborne, British Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, rising immediately after Dr. Koo, expressed the hope that the Committee, in unmistakable terms, would state its views with regard to air bombing to-day,

Words could not express the feeling of profound horror with which news of these raids is received by the whole civilised world, Lord Cranborne declared. The main object seems to be to inspire terror by the indiscriminate slaughter of civilians. Insofar as the lives and property of British nationals have suffered or been endangered, His Majesty's Government had already protested, and reserved all rights regarding the holding of the Government concerned responsible for the consequences. But this matter, he went on, was far beyond the interests of any single nationality. The extension of the air bombing in China presents menace also to the whole world.

Can Civilisation Itself Survive?

"If this tendency is to continue and to be intensified, can civilisation itself survive?" Lord Cranborne

The British Government desires to place on record at Geneva its profound horror at the bombing of open towns in Chnia, and to express the hope that the Committee will condemn such practice in no uncertain

"The effect of these bombings on world opinion is, I suggest, a factor which those responsible would do well to take into account."

Sorrow And Indignation

The French Foreign Minister, M Yvon Delbos, said he was deeply grieved to hear the Chinese delegate's report. No-one could read without sorrow and profound indignation the story of the bombardment of Canton, Nanking and Hankow. Silence would mean complicity in the crime. Civilisation Itself would be endangered if the conscience of the world did not raise its voice at this time. They must condemn in the strongest terms warfare which laid waste among innocent populations. M. Richard Sandler of Sweden spoke in the same vein. M. Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Commissar, while entirely supporting Lord Cranborne's condemnation of aerial bombardment, said its must not be taken as justifying in any way other forms of attack qn China.

Bombing Raids Condemned

After a frank debate, the Committee of Twenty-Three passed a resolution condemning the bombing of Chinese open towns by Japanese planes, resulting in loss of life among innocent civilians, and declaring that no excuse can be made for such acts which have aroused horror and indignation throughout the world.

The resolution will be submitted to a vote of the League Assembly. During the discussion, the attitude of Britain was supported by France, Sweden and Russia.

M. Yvon Delbos, French Foreign Minister, said that silence can be complicity in crime, and civilisation itself would be placed in danger if the conscience of the world did not raise its voice this time.—Reuter.

I did not wear a tin hat and shorts and stand on the miles, roof-top watching the death-dealing machines come stealing for their prey. No! I heard the buzz of their engines and knew that in a few moments some poor innocent souls would be blown, into oblivion, and the thought and the reality of such an occurrence caused me to write these few lines, and to ask, How long is this murdering business to continue without calling a halt? War is a terrible thing, and I do not advocate it. I have read that our sons were not born to go to war and be shot; neither were innocent people, non-combatants, born to be murdered! It is pitiful to see people who only ask to be left alone evacuating their humble, homes by thousands to escape being victims of murder. The closer one is to these scenes of horror the more is it brought home. Is it not time that such wanton slaughter be stopped? Or is it to be allowed to continue, so that we all, irrespective of nationality, can look forward to ourselves and loved ones meeting a similar fate in future wars or incidents?

"Thanking you for the insertion of there few lines in your widely circulated paper.

I remain, Sir. Yours faithfully, Disgusted.

Kwangsi has a provincial air force of its own. The headquarters avlocated at Liuchow, and the aviatorreceived their training from several retired officers of the Royal Au Force. Most of the war planes are of British make.

Air defence is also established at Kweilin, the new provincial capital. Though appointed to command troops in North China, General Li Chung-jen, Commander-in-Chief of the Kwangsi Army, is still in Kweilin to watch the situation.

Several agents of the Japanese intelligence service, who went to Kwangsi to buy over certain persons, have been arrested. Like Canton the spy fever is running high in Kwellin, Liuchow and Nanning,-Special.

THERE ARE NO RULES IN WAR

The report of the ruthless! sinking of a number of Chinese junks on September 22 off Cheelung Point, or that vicinity, by a Japanese submarine, which opened fire at short range and left the crews-men, women and children-to drown, finally disposes of the rather tattered that Japan intends to observe any of the niceties which one might expect to accompany the waging of an undeclared war, or any sort of war, for that matter. We have, of course, only the testimony of the survivors of this ghastly incident. But it should serve in the court of public opinion to condemn the perpetrators of this act. In the past we have had reports of destruction aboard Chinese trading junks, and because they had the excuse of a blockade we were prepared to admit, half-heartedly, that this practice was warrantable in a way. It has been the habit of of the blockading vessels to board junks with axes and cut away masts and rigging, leaving the crews practically helpless, at the mercy of tide and storm. Japan may justify that sort of thing, but never the cold-blooded slaughter of innocent fishermen, their womenfolk and children, whose only crime, if such it can be called, is that they sought to feed themselves and a few of their countrymen.

It has been suggested that the British Government, owes some responsibility to Chinese junks trading out of this port. This were brought here yesterday, victims are generally dissolved. kong registry. The provisions of registry are that a vessel company, that its principal place case is without foundation, ference. Again, there are ships that have a system known as Field Days in operation. TOW we have holidays with pay. A fortnight's leave on full pay. This would be grand if we could be home for the whole fortnight.

But there are two drawbacks. One is that the leave shall be taken at the convenience of the shipowner, and that any consecutive 48 hours off shall be taken from this. This means that many officers go on three or four days' leave after being away from home for several months, and this is counted as annual holiday. Often these days come at the week-end, so what. every other worker calls a weekend we have to call our holiday.

The other qualifying clause gives the owner the option of paying a fortnight's wages in lieu of the holiday. The extra money comes in useful, but-well, it means that in some cases an officer does not see his family or his home for years at a time.

His children grow up as strangers to him, and his contribution to the family happiness consists of the monthly allotment sent out of his pay from the head office-which, of course, lays me open to cynical: comment.

In lots of cases we have to find our own bed and bedding. The company finds the bunk, but the mattress and bedding we supply out of salary. We now receive an allowance of six shillings a month towards this, but we would prefer the company to organise the washing and renovation of bedding.

Again, there are ships which do not supply a cabin boy to look after the officers' rooms, which means that deck-officers and engineer officers, after keeping their watches on deck or in the engine-room, go to their cabins and put in a spell as housemaid, making beds, cleaning up carpets (if anyl) and emptying wash-

Although not many officers come over the £250 h year wage mark. we are outside the scope of the National Health and Unemployment Insurance benefits. This is a bit tough, but it happens because our food and accommodation are assessed as being worth four shillings a day, which puts us just outside the scheme. We are prepared to face all the ordinary risks of a scafarer's life. The extremes of heat and cold; the days and nights of continual tossing and rolling in bad weather in ships which do their best to stand on their heads and their blige keels at the same time; the terrible anxiety of fog, and the ever-present risk of fire.

We don't mind icebergs, submerged wrecks, or rocks which weren't on the chart on a littleknown coast, although we can't pretend to like them.

E are willing to take the risk of having our certificates suspended or cancelled after a Board of Trade inquiry, in the calm atmosphere of an Admiralty Court, into something which happened, into some error of judgment during the flurry and worry of a storm or a fog.

What we ask is that a certain type of owner, should realise that, after all, they call us ships' officers. and that it wouldn't cost very much more to treat us as such, rather than as automatons without feelings; or to regard us as men with families and responsibilities who like to go home occasionally and see those we love.

We grumble, we know-like farmers, we probably always willbut, after all, we always "bring home the bacon."

Response Given To V.R.C. Annual Swimming Events

(By "Abe")

For some reason or other, the response to the annual swimming championships organised by the Victoria Recreation Club has been extremely poor despite the fact that entries were kept open for an extra three days.

The newly-arrived Middlesex Regiment have taken advantage of this grace by sending in four nominations. However, the non-participation of W. Lawrence, A. A. da Roza, Enrique Chan, Fong Chung-yue and Mak Walming has caused great disappointment among swimming circles here.

The championships will commence in the V.R.C. pool this afternoon when two open events will be decided. The 100 yards free style should prove easy for Norman Lee, whose progress during the past year has been the chief feature of local swimming. In the absence of Wilfred Lawrence, Lee will have little opposition but it is extremely doubtful whether he will pushed by L. Oliveira and H. L. Ozorlo. I have no information regarding Pte. Hendren Ends As He Began--With "Duck"

TEST CRICKETER PLAYS HIS LAST MATCH

(By William Pollock)

London, Sept. 1.

So Hendren's last innings at Lord's was not a century, after all. It was a duck.

When Surrey declared, and Middlesex batted again, he went in in his accustomed place, cheered and clapped all the way to the pitch. He was out second ball, leg-before on an appeal by Watts to Reeves.

The crowd applauded him all the way back, and as he disappeared into the dressing room, with a big philocophic laugh on his face, he took off his cap and waved It.

Patsy ended as he began. In his first match at Lord's-Middlesex v. Gloucestershire, in 1909, he was out for nought in the first innings.

"I batted number ten," he said to me. "I could not but at all in those days, and they only put me in the team because I could eaten. I was made to field long-on both ends." . It was a lovely day for the season's finish of big cricket at the game's headquarters—a lovely sad day, If has been a grand season in so many ways, and all of us who love cricket are very louth to let it go. It finished full of interest, for almost till right to the end of this last

Referee On Farr Fight Vote

"LOUIS LANDED 15 PUNCHES TO ONE"

New York, Sept. 2. Arthur Donovan, who refereed the Farr-Louis fight and gave the Welshman only the first round, said to-day that he would stake his reputation as a referee that he was right.

"If Louis didn't hit Farr fifteen to one," he declared, "I'm crazy," "What Farr had to show me was that he has the toughest jaw and the gamest spirit I ever saw in any

INCIDENT AT LORD'S

LET M. C. C. DECIDE, SAYS SURREY CAPTAIN

The remarkable ending to the Middlesex-Surrey match at Lord's, following the action of E. R. T. Holmes, the Surrey captain, in deliberately giving away runs in order to claim the new ball, was still being hotly debated at the beginning of the month.

CAUSES DEBATE

The probability-is that the matter will be referred to the advisory county cricket committee, which was formed by the M.C.C. in 1904 to consider cases of this sort.

Sir Pelham Warner, president of the Middlesex County Club, said he could not approve of the Lord's incident, and has sent a private letter to Mr. H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, prestdent of the Surrey Club.

Equipment Left On Fields Of Battle

(By Manuel Casares)

United Press Staff Correspondent

Salamanca, Spain. The interesting claim is made by nationalist authorities that most of the farms and ammunition required by Gen. Francisco Franco's armies are obtained from the Madrid forces on the battlefield.

"It's a paradox, but nevertheless true, that our principal providers of war materials are the Reds," a high officer on General Franco's general staff said.

"Ever since the first days of the pared an £8,000 trousseau war the Reds began to solve for for her wedding at Cannes Town us this difficult problem of war material. When the nationalist Hall. movement started, owing to the capricious division of Spain between patriots and Maxists as a result of Chicago chain store millionaire, who the success or failure of the movement said this, added: "June has given me in various provinces, we were faced a gold wrist-watch and eigarette with a terrible problem: the major lighter, and has a secret which she part of the war material was in the is keeping until we get to London." hands of the Reds.

"We could count on the very include a diamond and platinum scarce supplies of individual Morrocan units and the equally scarce French poodle pups that cost £40 supplies of those army units, mostly each. regimental supplies, which remained in territory where the movement had been successful. The problem was to arm the thousands of volunteers who on July 18 sided with the army. We had to arm the Requetes and Falangists who wanted to fight in Somo Slerra and in the Alto de

SOLVED BY REBELS

"The march from Seville to Cordoba started to solve our problem. The Reds were abandoning much material. Spain's war supplies began gradually to pass into our hands. Besides hundreds of rifles, dozens of cases of bullets were appearing intact.

"It is curious to give the dates. The war started in the middle of July. By the end of August we already had in our possession the first Mexican rifles. They were all completely new-copies, somewhat defective, of the Spanish Mauser. By the middle of September the harvest of Mexican rittes was al-ready considerable; we had collected about 4,000.

"The principal supplier was the celebrated Captain Bayo who, with the failure of his FAI column in Mallorea came to face us at Talavera, suffering a new defeat of such magnitude that the militiamen caused him to 'disappear,' He reappeared in France,

WELCOMED TANKS

"At the end of October there appeared on the Madrid front the first 'Russian tanks.' They were splendid. The heavy ones cost at least 100,000 pesetas (approximately £1,200) each. Well and good. In the first days of November the nationalist army already had Russian tanks. Thenceforth, to date, we have in the fighting captured 203 Russian tanks. Nearly one-third of these we have functioning, so we cannot complain of their surrender to us.

"It' is a pity that human ingenuity has not discovered a way of capturing airplanes intact. We could have made a copious harvest of them. To date we have downed around 700.

"The first Russian rifles we captured we had to store as not serviceable. We had no ammunition to fit them. Shortly the number of Russian rifles began to worry us. was painful not to take advantage of such a quantity.

AMMUNITION NEXT

"But the Reds provided us with a solution; they started to leave us such a quantity of ammunition for this model rifle that it is possible the war will end before it is exhausted. Our initial work to manufacture ammunition of a calibre for the Russian rifles was completely suspended; it was more convenient to go to the battlefield.

"We must duly eulogize the Russian heavy machinegun. It li a magnificent automatic weapon. It has given magnificent results. It's water-cooling system is good. The wheeled carriage whereon it is mounted permits its facile transport and emplacement. Apparently this machinegun, where-of the Reds have a great quantity, has for them an important disadvantage; it is heavy. It does not serve conveniently in making their aiready famous strategic retirements, and so they prefer to leave them to us so that it is we who shall be so inconvenienced. The best harvest of these was made in the famous battle of Brunete.

"On the other hand, the Russian trucks are not very useful to us. They are very poor; our drivers do not like them.

"We also do not care for many of the Russian 12.40 centimetre cannon, which our soldiers have humorously nicknamed the '12.40 o'clocks,'

"What we have had to dump without any possible benefit has been the food captured from the enemy. All the tinned food, which we have found in huge quantities, has been practically unentable."

Freddin John Falgout, 21-yearold seaman of Raceland, Fla., who was killed by a piece of shrapnel that hit the deck of the United States cruiser Augusta in the Whangpoo River off Shanghat. The shell that hit the Augusta injured seventeen other U.S. sailors, Falgout's death was the fourth American casualty at Shanghai.

June's presents from her flance SUNSPOTS?

Cosmic Rays May Be Altered

> MOUNTAIN TOP OBSERVATIONS

Eruptions on the sun's surface may affect the arrival of cosmic rays on the earth, according to records made at a mountain research station on the Hafelekar, near Innsbruck, 7,600 feet above sca level.

Cosmic rays are an extraordinarily penetrating form of radiation, believed to reach the earth from outer space. They are believed to consist, in the first instance, of a stream of electrically charged particles, although impact of these on the earth's atmosphere may produce radiation of the X-ray type.

Since the earth is a large magnet, It has been calculated that cosmic trays must approach the earth in a series of spirals, predominantly, directed towards the polar regions. This is the manner in which electrically charged particles would be expected to behave under the influence of magnetic forces.

MAGNETIC STORMS

It has been found that magnetic storms in the earth's atmosphere, already known to be connected with disturbances on the sun's surface, may appreciably alter the proportion of cosmic rays reaching the

The Hafelekar records, published in the current issue of Nature. suggest that the departure from the normal may be as much as 3-4 per cent, either way on a day of pronounced magnetic storms.

Similar irregularities have been noticed in two series of American cosmic ray records: one taken at Cheltenham, Maryland, and the other at Huancayo, Peru. It is concluded that the cosmic ray dis-turbances must have been world

Greenwich Observatory records confirm that an "active" region of the run was at the same time pointing at the earth.

Three "moderately large" sunspots were seen—great vortices on the sun's surface —at least one of which was diagnosed as "active." "Bright eruptions" were also noted.

STOP

Although the drone of planes was distinctly heard over the city this morning, and air raid alarms were sounded, the Japanese raiders disdained to drop their bombs on so easy a target and carried on further afield, apparently searching for the Canton-Hankow railway lines, which they damaged considerably yesterday.

The clouds which obscured the Japanese planes from those who watched below may also have been responsible for the preservation of Canton from another bombing, for the ceiling was low and would have brought attackers dangerously close to anti-aircraft batteries.

No news has yet been received of any attack on the railway this morning, and the "All Clear" signal was sounded at 9.05 a.m., indicating the raiders have passed well beyond Canton.—Reuter.

POLICE ABOARD

Deportees In Fight. With Talma Guards

Police were called to the British India Steamship Company's liner Talma this morning when a riot broke out aboard among a section of the 150 deportees brought here from Singapore, who allegedly attacked their guards. Several persons, several of them ordinary passengers, it is reported, were injured.

The deportees, many of them reck-less, spirited and resentful, of discipline, had been taken aboard at Sin- | gapore, 150 in number, in the custody of 21 Indian guards. When the Talma came alongside at Kowloon Wharves to-day and the deportees were mustered to go ashore, there was a certain amount of confusion and excitement. Some of the deportees were already on the dock, under guard, when a sudden hubbub broke out below decks in the Talma. I was later discovered that several of the men had attacked their guards.

Ship's officers were extremely reticent, declaring they know nothing of the trouble. Hongkong police, too, declared they had no knowledge of the details of the incident, though a number of men were called to the ship. It was admitted, however, that there had been a clash and that one there had been a clash and that one man was seriously hurt,

The deportees have since been brought under guard to the Water Police Station.

Several Injured

According to the Chinese Press representatives who interviewed a number of the injured aboard the ship, some of those who suffered wounds, allegedly inflicted by Indian guards, were second class Chinese passengers from Burmah and other Indian ports.

These passengers became mixed with the rioters and suffered with them when the guards attempted to quell the mob. Some of them were badly bruned, it is stated,

Dr. KOO MAINTAINS JAPAN AIMS AT WORLD CONQUEST

Geneva, Sept. 27.

The real intention of Japan is to subjugate and conquer China, declared Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese representative at Geneva when he addressed the Committee of Twenty-three Nations to-day which is considering the Far Eastern question with a view to seeking means of settlement of present hostilities.

This essential step, the conquest of China, is one phase in the fulfilment of Japan's so-called sacred mission to dominate Asia, the Pacific and eventually the world, Dr. Koo went on.

FIRST REPORT OF FINAL SUMMING PARIS SHOWS

NOATS take first place in the news about the day clothes you will be wearing this autumn and winter.

All the Paris fashion houses are featuring them independ-dently as well as combined with suits in three-piece outfits. Rumours that skirts would be shorter have proved, after an allround view, to be unfounded; luckily for most of us they are still only at most lifteen inches from the ground. But you must make up your mind right away to get your eye into a new line. No more of those narrow waists, broad tight belts, accentiated hip lines. Instead most of the party of the party in the party of the party in the party of the party the new coats are cut plain in front, full at the back, so that they hang plumb-straight and fit the figure nowhere.

TURST impression was that we would have no choice but boxy conts—those square, swagger conts with deep pleats, let into a shoulder yoke at the back; and they are by no means easy to carry off, nre by no means easy to carry out particularly it you are small-sized.

But after seeing reversi shows I realised that the boxy coats were just one variation of the straight line; they've got an attractive swing to them and they are certainly going

Several of these appeared in every collection-quite enough to establish them as a fashlon for people who find the fulness of the straight coats a bit overpowering.

INDER U cont. straight or shaped, the fashion is all for suits.

Pitfalls In

Pastry-Making DASTRY-MAKING still seems to be one of the housewife's chief bo-

Even women who are the first to be agree that modern labour-saving methods and scientific equipment have made a clean sweep of kitchen gloom and drudgery, feel that a "hoodoo" hangs over ples. Actually nothing is further from the truth.

The first rule in pastry-making is to keep everything cool-mixing bowl, boards, the kitchen you-work in, the flour and fat and water you use. Scrub your hands in cool or cold water before you start, and see that, like everything else you use, they are absolutely dry.

The second point is that pastry. like people, needs fresh air and breathing space. Acrate your flour by shaking it through a sieve into the bowl. Work near a window if you can, and always try to leave the slab of pastry for an hour or two in a cool, airy place before actually putting it on the ple dish.

The flour should be white, smell sweet, and be light and powdery. Use a good brand and you will be safe. Follow the same rule with fat. Do not think that anything will do, and that an inferior kind of fat will miraculously produce a light creamycrisp pastry. Lately I have found that excellent results come from pastry made with good margarine, which in addition to being economical, is rich in the health-giving vitamins that make pastry a valuable part of the family meals. Mix pastry with a knife, and use as little water as possible. The pastry should come clean out of the mixing bowl, whether it is the short flaky or rough puff kind. If it sticks, it is too wet; and if it falls apart like a landslide, instead of forming a light, clastic dough, it is too dry. The latter state can easily be remedied, the former is not so satisfactorily doctored, so be careful with the water. Adding extra flour is apt to upset the proportions of your ingredients.

Cook your ples fairly quickly and remember that with self-raising flour you should start the cooking in a rather hotter oven than with Cookery Demonstrator

TWELVE leading South Wales coalowners, meeting in their headquarters in Park-place, Cardiff, have decided not only how much London coal merchants are going to pay for fuel this winter from the mines, but how much every householder in Greater London is to pay the merchants.

This is the first time that coalowners have decided the retail as well as the wholesale price of coal.

'FRISCO CHINESE AIDING- IN WAR AGAINST JAPAN

Even Bootblacks Aid Boycott and Quarter Flames With Zeal

(By Henry Wood) United Press Staff Corresponednt

San Francisco, Cal. San Francisco's famous, multicoloured Chinatown is girding its loins for the fullest possible participation in the present Far Eastern war, without actually violating any of America's neutrality laws, or the American rights of any of its members, nearly all of whom are now Amercian citizens.

As probably the largest Chinese centre in the United States, it is taking the lead in lending every possible aid to those at home who are fighting Considerable discretion, however, has to be used, the staid residents of Chinatown admit, in order not to violate any of the American Chinese citizens them-

The largest Chinese economic concern in the United States has already sent $50,000, it is declared, to the Nanking government and is ready to send more. The concern has branches in every large city west of the Mississippi. Virtually every employee in the establishment has agreed to past the shops in Piccadilly- give at least one month's salary to

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

A general campaign has also been launched in Chinatown to raise additional funds for the struggle at home, although most of the Chinese so engaged were born in America and have never seen the land of their ancestors.

Virtually all of the actors of Chinatown have voluntarily given up their leisure hours to solicit war funds while the theatre managers are slagbusible for the same purpose.

The various religious organizations have turned their attention more to the humanitarian side of the war than to the building up of sinews for fighting. They are seeking contributions to care for refugees in the war torn areas. A large number of American born doctors and nurses are also seeking permission of the International Red Cross to establish Red Cross base hospital units in the Shanghai area.

YOUTHS WANT FIGHTING

According to one discreet spokesman for the vast Chinese colony, there is a very strong movement on the part of the Chinese youth here to return and take active part in the flighting. Ine on, obstacle, or course, is that as American citizens they would be obliged to serve as non-combatants. These, however, are endeavouring to go as ambulance drivers, ordernes, and in other positions that would not constitute a loss or violation of their American citizenship.

According to other Chinatown sources, the local colony has a very efficient aviation school and since the Shanghai incident in 1932, scores of American trained Chinese aviators have returned to China to be of service. The school, at the present time it is declared, is training more and more of these young aviators and a call for their return to China has been actually received.

In the meantime, the streets of Chinatown are aflume with war bulletins. Older Chinese residents who are unable to read are given oral accounts by those who are more

BOYCOTT CROWS

One of the most typical aspects of the sentiment in Chinatown is the application of the boycott such as the Chinese at home have used for years against the Japanese. Chinatown for years past has gradually been invaded by Japanese merchants, and Japanese wares until often it is difficult for the stranger to tell which is which.

The little Chinese bootblacks of Chinatown are now swarming about the Japanese stores and passing out cards to all tourists which read as "You are welcome to Chinatown. " But you we i'm our traingsnip ! if you buy Japanese made products. For the profits of the Japanese products finance the Japanese militarists who kill our people.

"Please make sure you are not buying Japanese made goods, or otherwise you are helping slaughter our prople, bomb our ciles and colleges. These actions also endanger the lives of thousands of Americans and their properties in China.

"Please help us to make this world a safe place to live in by not buying 'made in Japan' goods. "Please write and tell your friends,

"Thank you-God bless you. "Yours for fighting the Japanese militarists economically. "The Young China Club."

Lord Cranborne Urges Firm Statement

Lord Cranborne, British Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, rising immediately after Dr. 1000, expressed the hope that the Committee, in unmistalcable terms, would state its views with regard to the Hitler-Mussolini plan for Euroair bombing to-day,

Words could not express the feeling of profound horror with which Interested traders say that many news of these raids is received by the whole civilised world, Lord Cranborne declared. The main object seems to be to inspire terror by the Insofar as the lives and property of British nationals have suffered or been endangered, His Majesty's Government had already protested, and reserved all rights regarding the holding of the Government concerned responsible for the consequences. But this matter, he went on, was far beyond the interests of any single nationality. The extension of the air bombing in China presents menace also to the whole world.

Sorrow And Indignation

The French Foreign Minister, M. Yvon Delbos, said he was deeply grieved to hear the Chinese delegate's report. No-one could read without sorrow and profound indignation the story of the bombardment of Canton, Nanking and Hankow. Silence would mean complicity in the crime. Civilisation itself would be endangered if the conscience of the world did not raise its voice at this time. They must condemn in the strongest terms warfare which laid waste among innocent populations.

Blames Japan For Much Of Narcotic Evil

China's Spokesman Makes Charges At Geneva

Geneva, Sept. 27. "In the struggle against the drug traffic, Public Enemy No. 1 is Japan" declared Dr. Wellington Koo to the Elfth (Social Questions) Committee of the League of Nations, to-day.

He added that it was officially reported that 90 per cent. of the world's illicit white drugs were of Japanese origin. Most of the illicit factories were in Chinese territory under Japanese control, said Dr. Koo. There had been a large increase in the production of drugs in these territories, but Japan had taken no action.

Japan had given repeated assur-rances during the past ten years, but they have not been fulfilled. "Japan's action tolerating and en-couraging illicit drug production in China is intended to weaken China's resistance" concluded Dr. Koo .-

EMPRESS OF

Doctors Treat How Stomach Trouble

By Dr. Scott, M.D., Paris.

Although doctors are human, you rarely find them suffering from indigestion. The reason is that they know exactly what causes it and how to treat it. Personally, I know nothing to equal 'Bisurated' Magnesia as a speedy and lasting remedy for all digestive troubles. If I cat anything that disagrees with me I take either a teaspoonful of the powder, or four of the tablets, and there is an end of the trouble. Indeed, there is something almost miraculous about the speed with which 'Bisurated' Magnesia arrests acute stomach pain. 'Bisurated' Magnesia (powder or tablets) can be obtained from all Chemists and Stores: 'I advise every tufferer to take some after their next sufferer to take some after their next meal, the relief will be a revelation.

THERE ARE NO RULES! IN WAR

The report of the ruthless sinking of a number of Chinese junks on September 22 off Cheelung Point, or that vicinity, by Japanese submarine, which opened fire at short range and ! left the crews-men, women and children-to drown, finally disposes of the rather tattered hope that Japan intends to observe any of the niceties which one might expect to accompany the waging of an undeclared war, or any sort of war, for that matter. We have, of course, only the testimony of the survivors of this ghastly! incident. But it should serve in court of public opinion to condemn the perpetrators of this act. In the past we have had reports of destruction aboard Chinese trading junks, and because they had the excuse of a blockade we were prepared to admit, half-heartedly, that this practice was warrantable in a way. It has been the habit of some of the blockading vessels board junks with axes and cut away masts and rigging, leaving the crews practically helpless, at the mercy of tide and storm. Japan may justify that sort of thing, but never the cold-blooded slaughter of innocent fishermen, their womenfolk and a few of their countrymen. It has been suggested that the British Government owes some responsibility to Chinese junks trading out of this port. the shore job every time.

For it is putting it very mildly to say that the conditions under which most officers work are not ideal. Good food and passable accommodation make life bearable on a passenger boat or goodclass cargo liner, but in most tramps the food is badly chosen, cooked without any idea of making it palatable, and the cabins provided are such that would make a shore-going person shrink with horror.

present. are not unreasonable grousers, but we really have to put up with conditions which the shore-worker would regard as unbearable.

Our duties in port may keep us up for 24 hours, and then when we leave we have to keep our fourhour watch. A man who is tired out and exhausted is asked to be in charge of maybe half a million pounds worth of cargo, with thirty or forty lives dependent upon the keenness of his eyesight and the quick reactions of his brain to the risk of a collision which may arise at any moment.

JOW we have holidays with pay. A fortnight's leave on full pay, This would be grand if we could be home for the whole fortnight. But there are two drawbacks. One is that the leave shall be taken at the convenience of the shipowner, and that any consecutive 48 hours off shall be taken from this. This means that many officers go on three or four days' leave after being away from home for several months, and this is counted as annual holiday. Often these days come at the week-end, so what every other worker calls a weekend we have to call our holiday.

The other qualifying clause gives the owner the option of paying a fortnight's wages in lieu of the holiday. The extra money comes in useful, but-well, it means that in some cases an officer does not see his family or his home for years at a time.

His children grow up as strangers to him, and his contribution to the family happiness consists of the monthly allotment sent out of his pay from the head office-which, of course, lays me open to cynical comment.

In lots of cases we have to find our own bed and bedding. The company finds the bunk, but the mattress and bedding we supply out of salary. We now receive an allowance of six shillings a month towards this, but we would prefer the company to organise the washing and renovation of bedding.

Again, there are ships which do not supply a cabin boy to look after the officers' rooms, which means that deck-officers and engineer officers, after keeping their watches on deck or in the engine-room, go to their cabins and put in a spell as housemaid, making beds, cleaning up carpets (If anyt) and emptying wash-

Although not many officers come over the £250 a year wage mark. we are outside the scope of the National Health and Unemployment Insurance benefits. This is a bit tough, but it happens because our food and accommodation are assessed as being worth four shillings a day, which puts us just outside the scheme.

We are prepared to face all the ordinary risks of a scafarer's life. The extremes of heat and cold; the days and nights of continual tossing and rolling in bad weather in ships which do their best to stand on their heads and their blige keels at the same time; the terrible anxiety of fog, and the ever-present risk of fire.

We don't mind icebergs, submerged wrecks, or rocks which weren't on the chart on a littleknown coast, although we can't pretend to like them.

TO TE are willing to take the risk of having our certificates suspended or cancelled after a Board of Trade inquiry, in the calm atmosphere of an Admiralty Court, Into something which happened, into some error of judgment during the flurry and worry of a storm or a fog.

What we ask is that a certain type of owner, should realise that, after all, they call us slups' officers. and that it wouldn't cost very much more to treat us as such, rather than as automatons without feelings; or to regard us as men with families and responsibilities who like to go home occasionally and see those we love.

We grumble, we know-like farmers, we probably always willbut, after all, we always "bring home the bacon,"

BETTER BALANCED TEAM PROVE TOO

GOOD AT THE FINISH

(By "Abe")

It was not until a bat thought it dark enough to begin its pocturnal prowls and flew across the court that the last set in the vital Mixed Doubles Tennis League match between the United Services R.C. and the Kowloon C.C. (1) was abandoned yesterday. This step had no effect on the final result, however, as the U.S.R.C., who were the home team, had already obtained six sets to clinch the championship.

Perry, of the Kowloon C.C., were Tylor; and Teddy Fincher and Miss having a hard tussle with A. L. A MARATHON GAME

On the other hand, E. F. Fincher and Mrs. Burnett started well by winning their first set, but fell to pieces in their last two matches. Their deterioration commenced when they failed to clinch the third game in their encounter with Sullivan and Mrs. Ashton. Leading 40-15 on Mrs. Burnett's service, they lost the advantage and deuce was called at Golf least a dozen times before they lost It. They did not win another game in this set. Teddy Fincher and Miss Perry took some time to settle down, and played much better towards the end than they did at the start. Their only success, however, was against Capt. Loch and Miss Tylor; they also held Sullivan and Mrs. Ashton to

Response Given To V.R.C. Annual Swimming Events

(By "Abe") ·

For some reason or other, the response to the annual swimming championships organised by the Victoria Recreation Club has been extremely poor despite the fact that entries were kept open for an extra three days.

The newly-arrived Middlesex Regiment have taken advantage of this grace by sending in four nominations. Badminton Lawrence, A. A. da Roza, Enrique Chan, Fong Chung-yue and Mak Walming has caused great disappointment among swimming circles here.

The championships will commence in the V.R.C. pool this afternoon when two open events will be decided. The 100 yards free style should prove easy for Norman Lee, whose progress during the past year has been the chief feature of local swimming. In the absence of Wilfred Lawrence, Lee will have little opposition but it is expushed by L. Oliveira and H. L. Ozorio. I have no information regarding Ptc. Stemp of the Middlesex. It is understood that D. A. Taylor, pression at the Police sports recently, will not start as he is said to be suffering from a strained heart.

TEST CRICKETER PLAYS HIS LAST MATCH

(By William Pollock)

London, Sept. 1.

So Hendren's last innings at Lord's was not a century, after all. It was a duck.

When Surrey declared, and Middlesex batted again, he went in in his accustomed place, cheered and clapped all the way to the pitch. He was out second ball, leg-before on an appeal by Watts to Reeves.

The crowd applauded him all the wny back, and as he disappeared into the dressing room, with a big philosophic laugh on his face, he took off his cap and waved it.

Patsy ended as he began. In his first match at Lord's-Middlesex v. Gloucestershire, in 1909, he was out for nought in the first innings.

"I batted number ten," he said to me. "I could not but at all in those days, and they only put me in the team because I could catch. I was made to field long-on both ends."

It was a levely day for the season's finish of big cricket at the game's headquarters-a lovely sad day. It has been a grand season in so many ways, and all of us who love cricket are very loath to let it go.

It finished full of interest, for alplay Australia next year. -most till right to the end of this last match anything might have happened.
